STALLINGS TO PRESENT RECITAL

Former Shelton State music student Dan Stallings will present his senior voice recital at the college on Wednesday, April 25, at 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Junior College. Currently, Dan is a student at Samford University in Birmingham. He is the son of Mrs. Grace Stallings of Tuscaloosa.

The program will consist of works by Bach, Viraldi, Schumann, Delibes, Chausson and Mozart. The public is invited to attend.

AUDITIONS FOR PERFORMING ARTS SCHOLARSHIPS

Auditions for 1984-85 Performing Arts Scholarships to Shelton State Community College are scheduled for May 19, 1984. Auditions are open to current Shelton students as well as high school seniors and others interested in attending the college. Applications may be obtained from Dr. Humphrey Lee, dean of students, and returned to Syble Coats, chairman of the music department.

SHELTON FACULTY ATTEND STILLMAN OPEN HOUSE

Wynora Freeman and Sharon Deck, Shelton faculty members, represented Shelton State on Monday, April 16, at Stillman College's annual open house for area high school and junior college students. Shelton students who want to learn more about the advantages of transferring to Stillman should see Ms. Freeman or Ms. Deck.

STAFF TO BE HONORED

The staff at the Junior College Division will be the guests of the Humanities Division at a brunch in their honor in observance of Secretaries Week. The festivities will begin promptly at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 25, in room 85 of the junior college. According to Sharon Deck, division chairman, the Humanities Division is happy to do this because of the valuable service performed by the support staff during the year.

STUDENTS INTERESTED IN TAKING PSYCHOLOGY

If you are interested in taking general psychology this quarter, it is not too late. Shelton is offering general psychology (PY 201-E) for the remainder of the Spring quarter. The class will meet four days a week (Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday) for two hours from 12:25 - 2:45 p.m. Anyone who is interested in taking this course should come by the counseling center during the week of April 23-27.

KIRKSEY OFFERS AEROBIC DANCING

Shelton instructor Sherry Kirksey is offering a class in aerobic dancing at the teen center behind the Red Cross office on 15th Street. The class is on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 4:45 - 5:15 p.m. The cost is $10 for eight visits.

FROM THE FIRE COLLEGE

The National Fire Academy and the Alabama State Fire College are sponsoring a seminar, "Fire Service Supervision: Increasing Team Effectiveness," in Birmingham on May 2-3, 1984. The 12-hour course is designed to introduce fire service managers and supervisors to basic skills and techniques that will improve their ability to relate to others in the work environment.

FREEMAN RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP TO SHELTON

Karen Lynn Freeman will begin Shelton State this year on a $250 scholarship provided by the Tuscaloosa County Council of General Federation of Women's Clubs/Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs. Ms. Freeman was a GED recipient last May.

HAYES TO SPEAK AT TENNESSEE CONFERENCE

Shelton instructor Dr. Paula Sue Hayes will be one of the speakers for a preliminary program entitled "Education and Training for Human Development," sponsored by the Center for the Study of Higher Education, College of Education, Memphis State University. The conference will be held June 25-28 at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis. This conference is designed to bring together people concerned with applying research and theory concerning human development to education, training and associated areas.

Dr. Hayes will speak on "Exploration of the Adult Stages of Women's Lives: A Base for Educational Intervention" at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, June 27.

Anyone interested in attending the conference should contact Dr. Hayes.

TCP CLOSES SEASON WITH "THE LITTLE FOXES"

"The Little Foxes," the Tuscaloosa Community Players final production of the year, closes out TCP's most successful season, according to Paul K. Looney, artistic director of TCP and Shelton faculty member. This classic drama by Lillian Hellman opens at the Bama Theatre on Thursday, April 26, and continues through Sunday, April 29. Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings with a 2:30 p.m. matinee on Sunday.

A special guest this performance will be Roy Hudson from the staff of Town and Gown Theatre in Birmingham. Hudson will be the guest designer for the set.

According to Looney, the setting is the deep south, possibly even Alabama. "The story revolves around the Hubbards, Giddons, and their greed," Looney said.

The box office at the Bama Theatre opens on Monday, April 23, daily until opening date. A special discount on tickets is now available for senior citizens and students.

READERS THEATRE COMES TO SHELTON

"It is the theatre of the imagination. The action really takes place in the imagination of the audience."

Shelton instructor Linda Mason, talks about Readers Theatre, a new program being added to the Junior College Division. "It's a lot like storytelling," Mason said. Mason and Dr. Joyce Jolly are directors of the program.

Two faculty members from Auburn University at Montgomery will be featured in the first production scheduled for Tuesday, April 24, at 7 p.m. at the junior college. Gwen Brown and Susan Willis will present a variety of women's roles in dramatic literature.

Ms. Brown received her B.A. in English from York College in Pennsylvania, her M.A. in acting from the University of Maryland, and is currently working on her doctorate. At AUM she has directed and performed major roles in theatrical productions.

Dr. Willis received her B.A. from Emory and her M.A. and Ph.D. in English from University of Virginia. She has served as associate director of various AUM productions and has conducted research in area Shakespeare production techniques.

TECHNICAL TALK

The manufacturing section of the West Alabama Chamber of Commerce visited the numerical control department of the Technical Division last week. The Chamber and the department are planning many interesting things for the future. Approximately 20 people were there. The new machining center donated to the Technical Division from Cincinnati Milacron, one of the world's largest machining manufactures, arrived this week. Anyone interested in seeing state of the art equipment should visit Melvin Corder and the numerical control center. Also planned for the Technical Division is a Red Cross drive May 16.
